

Fanø

Of Wealthy Sailors and Nature's Treasures

Intensive nature and culture experiences far north in the Wadden Sea

Scenery and Surroundings

Fanø, most northern island in the Wadden Sea, was in former times resident of the greatest royal merchant fleet. Till the end of the 18th century the workers built more than 2000 trading ships in Fanø's shipyards. The splendid houses are still reflecting the former wealth of the inhabitants in Nordby and Sønderho.

Additionally to the various insights into the island's history, a class trip to Fanø offers intensive experiences out in nature - at all seasons and in all weathers.

Exploring the unique landscape, the pupils get to know the Wadden Sea's genesis and dynamics. While watching birds and seals, the children get in touch with the fascinating habitat as well as the animals and plants that have adapted to it.

Accommodation

There are four group accommodations with 24 to 56 beds available. It is recommended to book all accommodations up to 1 year in advance.

Getting there

By train via Niebüll (D) and Tønder (DK) to Esbjerg. By public busses you get to the ferry pier and from there in about 12 minutes to Fanø. (Time for travelling from Hamburg: 5,5 - 6h)

The best way to get around on Fanø is by bike (can be borrowed at the site) or by public transport.

Sample Programme

5-Day-Programme

1st day:

Pm: Arrival and first orientation. Greeting by the local nature guide and short introduction into the program. Followed by an informative slide presentation about the danish Wadden Sea.

2nd day:

Enthralling walking-tour to Søren Jessen Sand (sandbar located in the west of Fanø) with an introduction into the genesis of the Wadden Sea. Followed by an exciting excursion focusing on the vegetation in the great dune area north of the sandbar.

3rd day:

Cultural and natural history bicycle tour (full day). Visiting the ancient sailor town Sønderho and getting an impression of the life 200 years ago. Furthermore, the tour includes a stop at the cathedral and and a walk in "artistic footsteps".

At low tide: mudflatwalk to the area's greatest seal bar (including a search for shells, ornithological observation and information about correlation between landscape and its inhabitants that are worth knowing).

4th day:

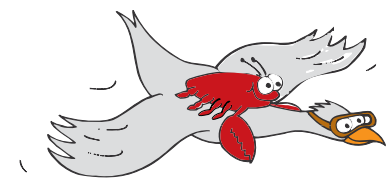

Am: Visit of Fanø Costume and Navigation Museum with insights into women's traditional life.

Pm: "Live music" - Fanø's musicians allow an insight in the interesting history of music.

Evening: IWSS course summary with final quiz.

5th day:
